Specialist planning

Specialist planning

auviso designs and plans user-friendly solutions for media technology installations – cost-effective, reliable, sustainable, objective and based on the current construction industry phase model.

Each time we plan a project, we focus on customised, forward-looking and high-quality solutions that are tailored to your requirements. We accompany your project from the preliminary study to project planning and the tender process, right up to the technical operating concept.

Our concepts are cost-effective, reliable and user-friendly, whilst also being sustainable and saving resources. Individual overall concepts and specific solutions are our speciality. With many years of experience, we are experts in collaborating with different stakeholders such as building contractors, general contracting companies, architects, electrical engineers and public authorities.

Client representation

We enhance your skills with our experience and also represent you during all phases of the project – from the investment decision through to commissioning.

Our services

Our AV specialist planners support your project throughout the entire planning process in accordance with the current construction industry phase model.
